

"BEDLOE BEY'S" GRAY HAT SETS LONDON A-FLUTTER

Cynosure of Admiring Nursemaids, Genial Globe-trotter Disappoints Readers of an "Agony" Column—Whereabouts a Mystery.

The numerous friends in this city of Dr. Edward Bedloe, the celebrated globe-trotter, diplomat, and wit, are sorely puzzled as to his whereabouts. It was expected that the genial Bey, who has been spending the greater part of the summer around the Lakes of Killarney, in Dublin, in London, Edinburgh, and other seats of wisdom and joy, would return to his favorite haunts in Washington by the middle of the present month. Letters have been received by friends indicating that he was at Morley's Hotel, London, on September 5 and at Queenstown on the 7th, since then not even a post card.

It is needless to say that Dr. Bedloe figured in a romance while honoring Europe with his presence. The London Mail, of a recent issue, contains the following:

"Will gentleman with light gray Homburg hat, who took a seat facing the Serpentine boathouse last Friday, return Wednesday next, same place?" "Yesterday was the appointed time," continues the paper, "and elderly ladies, with their knitting and crocheting, and old gentlemen of leisure with their newspapers, boatmen, chairmen, and gardeners prepared to watch what promised to be a pretty little idyl of the Serpentine. Each new arrival wearing a light gray Homburg hat was hailed as the hero of the 'agony' column, until he repudiated the insinuation with indignation or amusement, as the case might be."

"An elderly gentleman, of spruce appearance, who appeared on the scene about 3 o'clock, was at one time thought to be the looked-for arrival, and was followed by an admiring crowd of nursemaids with perambulators as he made a tour of the Serpentine. But the old gentleman, on being approached, denied all knowledge of the advertisement. He had only arrived in England this week from Dublin. Although there were many pale gray Homburg hats and many solitary ladies in evidence, the looked-for meeting did not take place."

"It was learned at Morley's that the man in the gray hat was Bedloe Bey, of Washington, D. C., U. S. A."

So much for the London Mail. Bedloe Bey will have his own say when he arrives in this city.

POLICE TO KEEP OFF KIRKPATRICK CASE

Effort Being Made to Find Missing Wife.

No action will be taken by the Washington police regarding the disappearance of Mrs. Laura Kirkpatrick, the mother of seven children, who left her home, 422 New Jersey avenue southeast, September 12, after writing her husband a note in which she stated that she was "going where she could live in peace."

Capt. Boardman, chief of detectives, last night told Kirkpatrick and his attorney that the disappearance of the woman was a domestic affair and one in which he thought the police had no right to interfere.

When Mrs. Kirkpatrick deserted her home she left a note purporting to indicate a desire to end her life. Investigation by the police, however, dispelled the belief that the woman contemplated suicide. "I am going where I can live the rest of my days in peace," she wrote in her letter. "There is no use looking for me because if you find me it will be in a watery grave."

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's seven children are separated as a result of her disappearance, and her home has been completely broken up. A fifteen-year-old daughter is prostrated with grief over the disappearance of her mother. Several of the younger children have gone to live with relatives, while the father and a son are boarding with strangers.

CELL INSTEAD OF ALTAR.
Wedding Postponed Because of "Other Girl's" Charge.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Everything save the bridegroom was in readiness for the wedding of Miss Roseanna McCabe, arranged for last night at her home, 108 North Twenty-fourth street, Camden. The young man who failed to appear was going to jail about the time fixed for the wedding. He is Walter Hoffman, of 41 Marlton avenue, and he is accused of a grave offense by Miss Annie Hanford, of 4 North Twenty-first.

JEWISH NEW YEAR ENDS AT SUNDOWN

Orthodox Hebrews Await Yom Kippur Next Sunday.

Sundown last night brought the New Year's holidays, or the ceremonies incident to Rosh Hashana, to a close in the Jewish orthodox synagogues of this city, who also observed the "second day." The recital of penitential prayers, called Selihot, will be continued in the orthodox synagogues every day until next Sunday, which is the Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur.

The Selihot is chanted in the minor key before dawn in the dimly lighted houses of worship. They sound the note of grief and contrition for the sins of the past year.

Yom Kippur is the greatest of all holidays in the Jewish calendar. From sundown Sunday evening until the same hour the following day, every devout Israelite will give himself entirely to God and to the purifying of his soul by repentance.

It will be a day spent by him in meditation and prayer, with no thought of the world. It is the great White Fast, when, abstaining from all food from sundown to sundown, the people of Israel "afflict their souls" for the sins of the past year.

TRIPLETS ALMOST CLASH.
Two Sets of Them in One Square Within a Week.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 21.—According to the most recent reports, the work is certainly getting busy making fall deliveries in Pittsburgh. Within a week he has deposited a set of triplets at the home of Mrs. John Burnett, of Duquesne Heights, both houses being in the same block.

The latest arrivals at the Burnett home are two girls and a boy, weighing 7½, 7½, and 6 pounds, respectively. Both mothers and babies are doing well, and the fathers are expressing great satisfaction at the unusual additions to their families.

The Washington Herald's Free Cooking School

Cooking School Programme

Lessons Daily at 2:30 P. M.

MONDAY.
Japanese Roll. Tomato Cream Sauce.
Broiled Bacon.
Potato and Nut Croquettes.
Cocoa Muffins.
TUESDAY.
Roast Lamb. Cherry Rissoles.
Smothered Potatoes with Green Peppers.
Cambridge Pudding.
Foamy Sauce.
WEDNESDAY.
Chicken in Rice Border with French Peas.
Potato Doughnuts. Feather Loaf Cake.
Fairy Fruit Salad.
THURSDAY.
Filet of Trout. Sauce Tartare.
Steamed Raisin Bread.
Pimento Relish. Maple Cream Cake.
FRIDAY.
Oyster and Mushroom Cutlets.
Broiled Steak Delmonico.
Peach Tart.
SATURDAY.
Lecture. Household Helps. Question Box.

GRAND CONTEST IN BAKING

To Climax Cooking Lectures $400.00
Serviceable Prizes

GIVEN AWAY FREE During This Contest

The Herald requests you to set aside every afternoon, commencing Monday, September 25, and attend these instructive lectures.

Mrs. Helen Armstrong.
The celebrated lecturer and exponent of the cooking art, will have charge of the programme. The event will be high-class in every detail—yet it will be free. There will be prizes, contests, daily changes of programme, features of rare interest and educational value.

To-day Is the Day

(Sept. 25 to 30)

For First Lecture

This is a rare treat, an opportunity to hear the best lectures on domestic science ever delivered in the United States.

Attend the first lecture on next Monday and you will be sure to hear the whole series.

No charges.

Music and valuable recipes.

THE ARCADE

Commencing Promptly at 2:30 P. M.

Come Early and Secure
Comfortable Seats

WIVES WANT TO BE PUPILS.

Domestic Science Courses in High School Lures Them.

New Castle, Pa., Sept. 24.—The New Castle school board has received from a number of young married women a petition asking that they be permitted to enter the domestic science courses in the high school.

The school controllers are divided on whether the request should be granted.

In the churchyard at Plymtree, Devon, is a yew tree whose age is calculated at 1,000 years, and which is doubtless the oldest in the country.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS RALLY.

Rev. Dr. Pate Urges Members to Extend Their Efforts.

A mass meeting of the Epworth League was held yesterday evening in Hamline M. E. Church. Rev. C. L. Pate, pastor of the Dumbarton Avenue Church, lauded the work of the leaguers, and urged them to extend their efforts among the other denominations.

Solos were sung by Miss Beattie Beach, Mrs. C. A. James, and Mr. Caldwell. Addresses were made by Dr. Wedderspoon, of the Foundry M. E. Church, and Rev. Dr. Grey, of the Hamline M. E. Church.

TALK ON "GOOD LIVING."

Feature of Y. M. C. A. Services at Lincoln Park.

Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., services were held at Lincoln Park yesterday afternoon, and were attended by several hundred persons. The feature of the afternoon's exercises was an address on "Good Living," by George A. Miller.

The Wesleyan male quartet and the Robins Orchestra furnished music. Because of an engagement in Baltimore, former Commissioner Henry B. F. Macfarland, who was to have spoken, was unable to attend.

LAUDS WILLIAM FLETCHER.

Rev. Dr. Muir Extols Late Member of Temple Church.

The life and work of the late William Fletcher, for years a prominent member of the Temple Baptist Church, was extolled in a memorial sermon yesterday morning by the Rev. J. J. Muir, pastor of the church. He pronounced Mr. Fletcher "one of the noblest characters Washington has ever seen."

The largest congregation of the year, including the various social and religious clubs of the church, attended the services. The children's organizations were well represented.

CALVARY CHURCH THROGGED.

Bishop Wilson, LL. D., Preaches Anniversary Sermon.

Calvary M. E. Church South, in Georgetown, celebrated its fourth anniversary yesterday morning, in the presence of a large congregation.

Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson, LL. D., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, preached the sermon, taking his text from the Gospel of St. John, vi:28, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." The bishop was entertained at the home of the pastor, Rev. J. L. Kibler.

COOK WITH GAS

MRS. HELEN ARMSTRONG.

This phrase has confronted probably every man, woman, and child in the larger cities of the country in one form or another during the past ten years, yet its full meaning has not been appreciated except by those who have acted on the valuable suggestion it contains.

To Washington housekeepers who will attend The Herald's Cooking School in the Arcade Rink the phrase "cook with gas" will take on an entirely new meaning, even though a majority of those in daily attendance have been using gas for years.

One of the greatest cooking experts in the United States will demonstrate clearly the superiority of the gas range over any other method of cooking, particularly in regard to the vital points of economy, convenience, and cleanliness.

The lectures on cooking will prove a wonderful aid to housekeepers in many ways, but especially in the advice regarding the MEANS of cooking WITH GAS.